Spring is in the air and with it comes growth, rebirth, and an explosion of color. Colored jeans are the rage right now. You can find them in just about every color of the rainbow in various shades. Unfortunately, most of the styles I've seen are skinny jeans which isn't a flattering look on me. My desire to take part in the color trend has resulted in coral shorts and turquoise athletic shoes. I just love my new shoes. They are lightweight and put a spring in my step. What are some ways you add color to your wardrobe?
