

Red Beet Eggs

Description

default watermark

When I was a kid, my Mom used to make Adobe Eggs aka, red beet eggs. I particularly remember her making them for camping trips in our pop-up camper. Most kids probably associate foods like sâ€™™mores or hot dogs with camping, but I remember red beet eggs. My family thinks Iâ€™™m weird and no one else seems to like them, but me. If you are feeling a little adventurous and you like the flavor of beets I suggest you try them.

They make a great side dish or lunch.

Red Beet Eggs

Author: Dawn

Ingredients

- 6 hard cooked eggs, shelled
- 1 or 2 cans of beets
- 1 cup cider vinegar
- 1 clove garlic, crushed
- 1/2 bay leaf
- 1/4 tsp ground all spice
- 1 tsp salt

Instructions

1. Put eggs in a quart jar.
2. Combine remaining ingredients and pour over eggs.
3. Cover, cool and refrigerate overnight or at least 8 hours.

Date Created

2012/07/03

Author

queenie

default watermark