

Good Enough

Description

This is a brand new domain for me. My blog originated on blogspot and now calls wordpress home. I am fortunate to have a friend in the web design business at www.ginasis.com who created this new site for me. I would have used the fancy link button here, but couldn't get it to work. I hope you'll bear with me in this new transition and forgive any mistakes. I'm learning as I go. I have found sometimes you just have to jump in and just do it as Nike says. I tend to be a perfectionist and a procrastinator so if I wait any longer for things to be perfect there is a chance you'll never see my blog. Things can just be good enough. This blog is a work in progress and I'm sure will evolve over time just like me. I hope you'll visit my joyful scribblings often and please leave a comment if something inspires you.
