ombre- shaded or graduated in tone: said of a color

Ombre seems to be the rage right now everywhere you look. If you search the word on pinterest, you will find examples of it in nails, hair color, home decor and baked goods. I fancy it quite a bit except for when it comes to hair. If you look closely enough you will find ombre in nature. Currently the leaves in my area are in full swing Fall mode. Things often change gradually in life and if Iâ€™m not paying close attention they often go unnoticed. While walking my dog I spotted a tree with a mixture of green, yellow, and red leaves and the word ombre popped into my head. I hope this isnâ€™t a sign Iâ€™ve been spending too much time on pinterest. I like to think of it as finding inspiration in nature and noticing the similarities between us. What similarities have you discovered?
