the slightly flared jean look

jeggings with boots

Are you a skinny jeans or a boot leg jeans kind of gal? I love a boot leg jean or jeans with a little flare to help balance out my hips. However, a few days ago I did the unthinkable and bought a pair of skinny jeans. To be truthful they aren't even skinny jeans, but jeggings! Insert a huge gasp here. There, I said it jeggings. I swore I would never wear them. I have horrible flashbacks of wearing stir up pants when I was pregnant with my son in 1995. The options for maternity wear were pretty limited back then. I have always been a little bigger below the waist with muscular thighs and calves and don't care for anything tight around my legs.

On a recent shopping trip my friend Diane convinced another friend and I to try on her favorite jeggings. The brand is wit and wisdom and we bought them at Nordstrom. They cost $64 which I didn't think was too bad for a pair of jeans. Diane convinced us that with the right shirt and jeans tucked into boots that it was a more flattering look than my boot legs. Now the trend is to tuck in your jeans and leave your shirt untucked. It has been that way for some time, I just preferred to stay in my box and not follow the trend. I have to admit though it's nice to have another look and now you can actually see my cute boots. I still won't be getting rid of my boot leg jeans though. Lord help me if stir up pants ever come back en vogue. Can you tell I hate having my picture taken? I'm an awkward poser. My daughter took these photos with her phone.
