

Simple Joys

Description

Good hair days are a simple joy. I got my hair cut and the color refreshed this week. I have seen more gray hairs than normal over the last two years and I love when my hair is newly colored with a little shine. I have always had a hair fetish. I think itâ€™s hereditary because over Christmas break my parents were swooning over actor Simon Bakerâ€™s hair. They kept commenting on what great hair he has and I would have to agree. Pictured above is my top five picks of men with good hair. Iâ€™m partial to thick and wavy hair which pretty much sums up my line up. Pictured from left to right: Patrick Dempsey, Nate Berkus, James Franco, Jon Hamm, and Bradley Cooper. Russell Brand isnâ€™t pictured, but heâ€™s got pretty awesome hair as well. Please leave a comment if you can think of others I may have forgotten. Oh, how I love to make lists.

Artwork by Kelly Rae Roberts

If youâ€™ve been following my blog for awhile you have probably come to the conclusion that I love Kelly Rae Roberts and her messages. She shared a post this week about embracing chaos. As someone who can easily get overwhelmed by my to do list it feels good to know Iâ€™m not alone. Sometimes the best thing to do is just â€œkeep on truckin.â€ Keep on truckin happens to be one of my favorite lines of the 70â€™s. I think Iâ€™ve mentioned that before in my blog as well. If youâ€™d like to read Kelly Raeâ€™s post click here.

Another simple joy of mine is chocolate. Iâ€™ve not been eating much of it lately because Iâ€™ve been following the Shred Diet, but I will joyfully be partaking in some Easter candy this weekend. Hersheyâ€™s Mounds used to be made in the shape of eggs which I wasnâ€™t able to find this year. Coconut eggs are my favorite, but I also love Reeseâ€™s Peanut Butter Eggs and the Cadbury Mini Eggs. Whatâ€™s your favorite Easter candy?

Date Created

2013/03/29

Author

queenie