

Blog Updates

Description

You may have noticed I've made a few updates to my blog recently. I want to start by saying I couldn't have done this without the help of my friend Gina at Ginasis. She is the technical mastermind behind my blog. I am constantly coming up with new ideas so I can be a bit of a challenge at times. It's in my nature to change and update things every few months especially when it comes to my home, and I feel as if my blog has become my second home.

The following is a list of things I've added to my blog.

1. I now have a button for the website Blog Lovin included with my other social media buttons like facebook, twitter and pinterest. Blog Lovin is a way to follow multiple blogs all in one place. You can categorize them by topic. For example, I consider Joyful Scribblings a lifestyle blog. If you use any of these social media sites I'd love to have you connect with me.
2. Right below my social media buttons(top right side of blog) is subscribe by email. If you click on email updates you will be instructed to enter your email address. You will then be sent an email asking you to confirm your subscription. Check your spam file if you don't get it. You have to click on the link to confirm otherwise you won't receive my posts through email.
3. I know several people read my blog on their mobile phone. On the very bottom left of my blog page there is a sentence that says switch to our mobile site. If you click on that link it will change the post so there are less graphics.
4. If you've just started reading my blog there are now past posts highlighted at the bottom of each post. Some past posts are also featured on my sidebar.
5. Every Tuesday I post a recipe so I thought it would be nice to offer a print option for recipes. I personally still like to have a paper copy of a recipe.

I hope these updates are helpful to you. If you have further questions my post on how to navigate my blog might be helpful to you.

What have you updated recently? Do you have a favorite find or fun project that you did? Leave me a comment or send me an email with your photo. Many of my favorite things have been recommendations from friends. I'd love to hear from you.
