

Cheerleader Dad

Description

Stacey at Likes To Smile shared this video on her blog last week and I loved it so much I just had to share it with you all. Several friends have posted on facebook this past week that their daughters made the cheerleading squad at our local high school. I smile when I try to picture some of these Dads participating in a cheer with their daughter. However, high school cheer requires a few more stunts and backflips.

I love the message of this Ad Council public service announcement. "The smallest moments can have the biggest impact on a child's life." I personally don't think there is an age limit for the child. I hope this video made you smile.

Date Created

2013/04/08

Author

queenie

default watermark