

Halloween Party Treats

Description

default watermark

I was a Room Mom for many years and our Elementary School Halloween Party was always my favorite party of the year. I enjoyed watching the kids parade around the school and marveled at the creativity of some of their costumes. You can always tell who has a family member that sews. However, boxes and a little ingenuity can also go a long way.

The teachers and principal dressed up too and it was just as fun to see them decked out in their costumes. As a Room Mother, I was always on the look out for cute Halloween party ideas. I used to buy the Halloween issue of several magazines every year. Unfortunately, Pinterest didn't exist at that time. These are a few of my favorite ideas I found on Pinterest. I've included a mix of healthy and sweet treats. If you are in need of further ideas you can check out my Halloween board on Pinterest. If you're in charge of planning a school party or if you just want to make a festive treat for your kids, I hope this roundup inspires you.

Frozen Boo-nana Pops from Skinny Taste

Spider Cracker Snacks from La Jolla Mom

Clementine Pumpkins from Spaceships and Laserbeams

Witches Hands by Toni Spilsbury

Owl Crackers from Parents.com

Mummy Candy Bar by The Idea Room

Mummy Cookie Bites from The Recipe Critic

Gingerbread Skeletons from Right at Home

Witchâ€™s Broomstick Cookies from Dragonâ€™s Kitchen

Owl Pretzel from Just A PinchRice

Cake Owl Snack at Repeat Crafter Me

Strawberry Ghosts from Taste of Home

Date Created

2013/10/16

Author

queenie

default watermark