

Favorite Facebook Shares

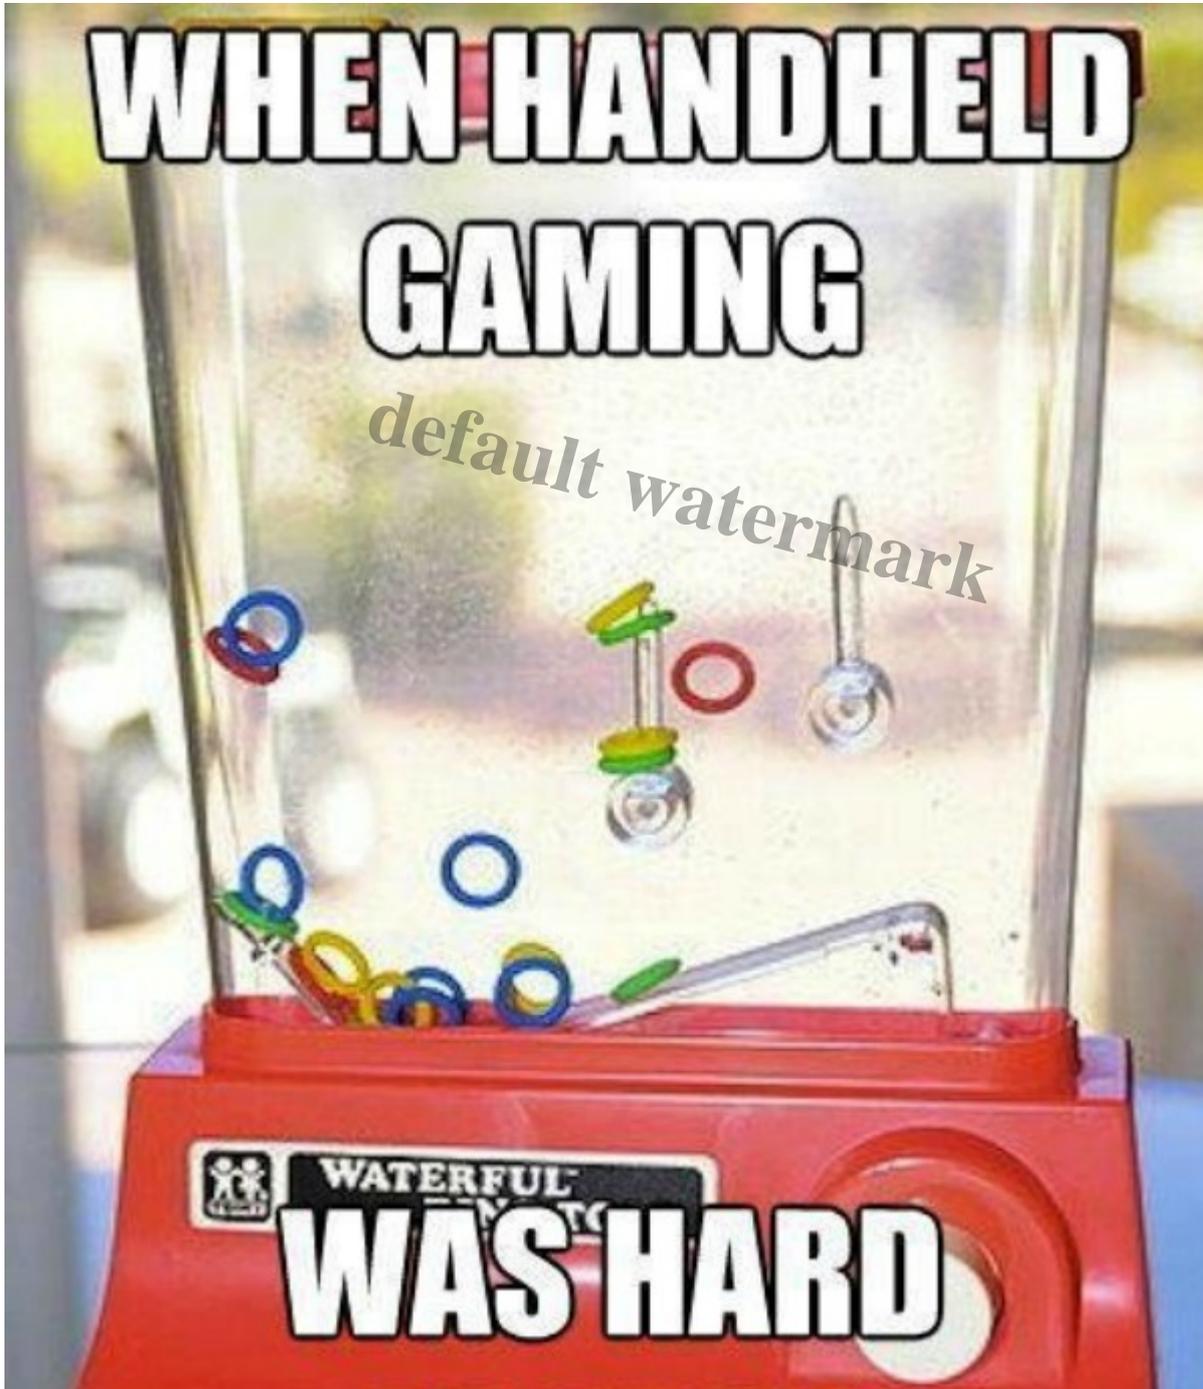

Description

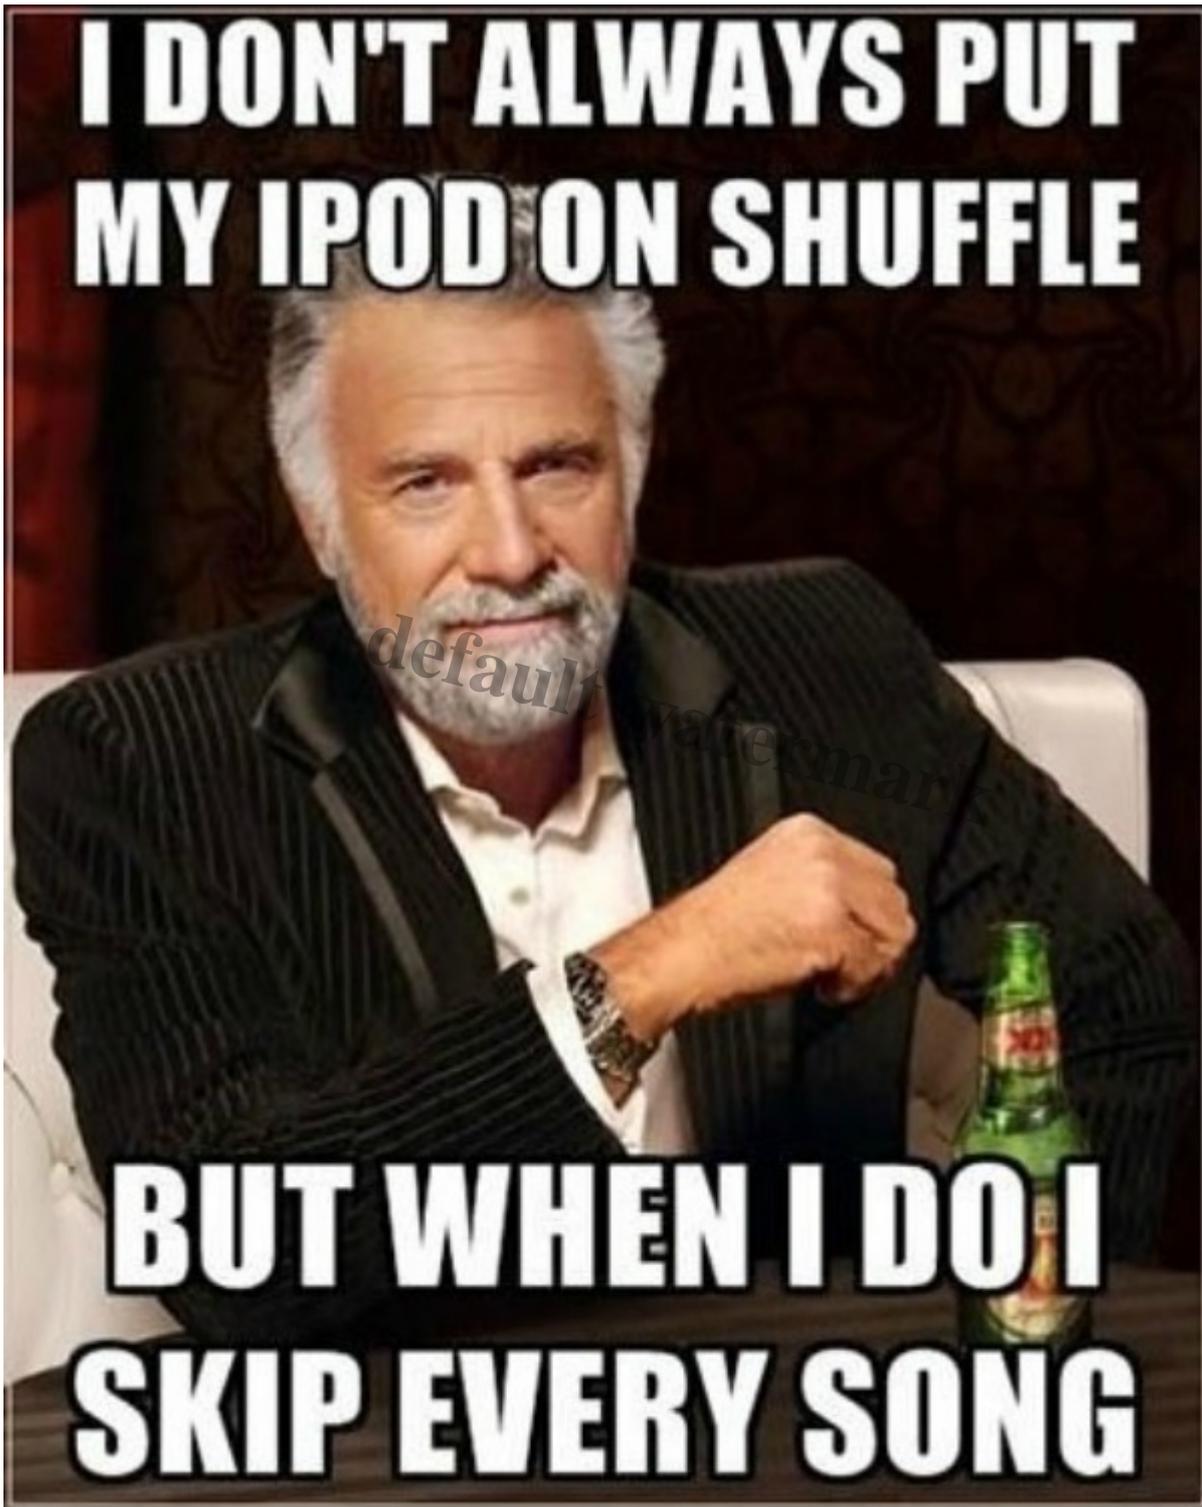

I was talking to my friend the other day about how I don't understand the ins and outs of Facebook. How is it decided who sees your posts? Also, unless you're on Facebook around the same time someone posts something you'll probably never see their post. For those of you who are more schooled in Facebook please leave me a comment if you know the answer.

I share my posts on my Joyful Scribblings page along with information I come across on other blogs or pages. Since some readers aren't on Facebook I thought I'd highlight a few things I've shared on my page recently. Those readers that are on Facebook, pop over and check out my page from time to time while youâ€™re posting your latest status. Iâ€™ll be taking a short blog break over the Thanksgiving holidays, but Iâ€™ll be sharing some of my favorite finds on my Facebook page.

more awesome pictures at THEMETAPICTURE.COM

This post was inspired by The Dose of Reality bloggers Ashley and Lisa. They share the funniest posts on their Facebook page. It's guaranteed a laugh just about every day. The above photos are a sneak preview of the type of things they post.

This is the cleverest and coolest centerpiece made out of ice cream cones from Oh Joy.

default watermark

In Katrina's Kitchen

Two ingredient white thin mints from In Katrina's Kitchen. It's baking season!

This fall tablescape from Craftberry Bush is simple and beautiful.

I love this post from Carla at a Life Without Borders. It's a must read and will inspire you to share your stories with family this holiday season.

Love these baked brie bites from Iowa Girl Eats which are perfect if your entertaining for the holidays.

Love this little bit of inspiration from Adriana's World.

Love this living room makeover from Thistlewood Farms.

I hope youâ€™ve enjoyed some of my favorite posts and that youâ€™ll visit me from time to time over on Facebook as well.

Date Created

2013/11/26

Author

queenie

default watermark