10 Adorable Easter Ideas

Easter is in a few weeks and Pinterest has been flooded with of all sorts of Easter and Spring ideas. These are 10 of my favorite ideas which I've come across during my many hours of pinning things on Pinterest.

If you love playing with your food check out these cute Deviled Egg Chicks from Taste of Home.

I love succulent plants and terrariums. This DIY Easter Egg Terrariums from Design Lotus would make an adorable hostess gift if you are having dinner or brunch at a friends.

Bunny Pops

My kids love powdered doughnuts and I donâ€™t know of a kid who wouldnâ€™t love these Doughnut Bunny Pops from Positively Splendid.

Bunny Ears Mousse by Matthew Mead was featured on the blog Centsational Girl .They are clever and would be fairly easy to make.

These Easter Bunny Sundaes from Clean and Scentsible are almost too cute to eat.

I love just about anything in a mason jar. These Birdâ€™s Nest Cupcakes in Mason Jars from At The Picket Fence are almost too pretty to eat.

I love a Peep. This Peeps Sunflower Cake from Taste of Home is genius!

I love the Peep Sunflower Cake, but these Lemon Peeptinis from Home is Where the Boat Is are more up my alley.

These Nutter Butter Chicks from Heather's Sweets and Treats are simple, but cute and festive. I used to make ghosts with them for Halloween, but this is the first time I've come across chicks.

My family loves chocolate covered strawberries. These Easter Strawberries from Harry & David are the first time I've seen strawberry carrots. Love it!

Which one of these projects is your favorite?
