

NYC Here We Come

Description

default watermark

Iâ€™m off to New York City for a girlâ€™s weekend with my daughter. Weâ€™ve visited New York City several times and I have yet to tire of it. Iâ€™ve shared some of my experiences in these past posts: New York City Highlights, The City That Never Sleeps, Discount Tickets from Goldstar. I like to do something different each time I visit the city. However, we have our standard things we like to do every visit.

One must do is visit Melissa's Cupcakes in SoHo. My daughter loves Melissa's mini cupcakes and because of their size you can sample several flavors without getting too full.

We always have to walk around Times Square even though the crowds can get pretty bad at times. It is the ultimate New York City experience.

I also have to eat a deli at least once. New York City has some of the best delis. It's a good thing we do so much walking otherwise I would come back 10 pounds heavier.

We are meeting my friend Amy and her daughter and I'm also meeting up with two of my blogger friends Stacey and Adri. Stacey wrote a guest post on my blog on some of the beaches she escapes to in the summer. I have yet to visit one of the beaches because there is always so much to do in the city.

This weekend our plan is to walk across the Brooklyn Bridge and see a little of Brooklyn. I'll be sharing photos on Instagram and Facebook so you can catch up with me there.

Date Created

2014/06/26

Author

queenie

default watermark