I love a good splurge versus steal. I have shared some of my favorite lip balms in the past HERE. Fresh Sugar is one of those. It glides onto your lips smoothly, has a nice scent and leaves a hint of color. The Rosé is my favorite lip tint. It's a little on the pricey side for a lip balm, but worth every penny. However, if money is tight I recently discovered a similar product with a smaller price tag.

Maybelline makes a moisturizing lip balm called Baby Lips. You may have come across it at Wal-Mart or Target. Baby Lips also has a few shade options and a sunscreen option which is great for a day at the pool or beach. I actually first read about it on a blog, but unfortunately can't remember which one. I made a mental note to give it a try and then I saw my sister-in-law carrying it. She loves a good and inexpensive beauty find and recommended it as well.

Are you familiar with Baby Lips or Fresh Sugar and how would you rate them? Leave a comment.
