

My Favorite Book of the Year & Other Good Reads

Description

default watermark

FAVORITE READS
joyfulscribblings.com

I love to talk about books, read reviews of books, collect books and if I'm lucky I actually get a few books read. I'm currently reading Gone Girl. My Aunt gave me the book a year ago and I've been frantically trying to finish it so I can go see the movie. I've heard the movie does a great job of portraying the book. I'm enjoying Gone Girl, but it's not my favorite book of the year.

My favorite read so far this year is (cue the drum roll) Me Before You by Jojo Moyes. I'm not sure if there's a movie planned for it, but there needs to be. Get on it Hollywood Producers. It's the story of a young woman who lives a pretty ordinary and sheltered life until she meets a worldly quadriplegic man who turns her life around. The two don't have much in common, but they help each other in their own unique ways. I have unknowingly given away the ending to stories before so I don't want to say too much and spoil it for you. I love Jojo Moyes' writing style and British humor. Me Before You made me laugh and cry. I'm anxious to read Jojo Moyes' other books.

I read a few books this summer that I also thought were good reads.

Where'd You Go, Bernadette by Maria Semple

The Fault in Our Stars by John Green- It's one of my daughter's favorite books. If you liked this book, I think you'll love Me Before You

The Giver by Lois Lowry

The Husband's Secret by Liane Moriarty

This post contains an affiliate link to Amazon. If you purchase something through the link I get a small percentage of the sale.

Leave a comment and share some of your favorite books you've read this year. I'm always looking for new titles to add to my list. My book club is reading The Good Girl by Mary Kubica which is next on my list. Happy reading and don't forget to share in the comments one or two of your favorite reads.

Date Created

2014/10/07

Author

queenie