

Five Free Printable Love Quotes

Description

default watermark

I'll be sharing quotes on Love every Wednesday this month. Below are links to five free printable love quotes. I like to pin quotes on my kitchen bulletin board and in my office as little positive reminders. I'm not a natural cheerleader so it takes a little work on my part to be positive. If you are a new reader to my blog, you might be thinking why did she name her blog joyful scribblings? It is my intention to focus on the little joys in everyday life and one of those joys is sharing things I love and that I'm passionate about. Blogging helps keep me accountable and is a way to express my creativity.

My hope is that I also share things and topics that inspire you and that you love as well.

Click on each link below the quote for directions on how to download the printable. I like to print quotes on heavier white cardstock rather than regular copy paper. You can find white cardstock at office supply stores or hobby stores. The best part is these prints are all free just like LOVE.
