

Simple & Delicious Recipes

Description

I have some exciting news to share. Iâ€™m featured in Taste of Homeâ€™s August/September issue of Simple & Delicious Recipes magazine. You can find it on newsstands starting today and until September 8. My Chocolate and Peanut Butter Goody (Crispy) Bars are part of the back-to-school treat ideas. You can find the recipe on my past blog post here or page 73 of Taste of Homeâ€™s

Simple & Delicious.

I like to share simple and easy recipes because as I've mentioned in the past, I really don't love to cook. If I could afford a personal chef I would gladly pay someone to cook and plan meals for me and my family. I love to collect recipes and I really would love to enjoy cooking, but most days I'm just not feeling the love. However, I do love to eat and the August/September issue of Simple & Delicious has some easy recipes I'd like to try like this slow cooker lasagna. I've never made lasagna in a slower cooker before have you?

Iâ€™d also love to try these cuban sliders from Serene at House of Yumm and the Italian Sausage & Zucchini Soup would make a nice fall and winter meal. Iâ€™m not a big fan of soup in the summer months especially when itâ€™s 100 degrees outside.

I don't believe cooking has to be complicated to taste good. My goal is to focus less on recipes in the future, but I will continue to share some of my favorites with a focus on simple and easy. The reality is I still need to cook for my family. There are a ton of great food bloggers on the internet and I will share those I enjoy as well. Taste of Home is also always a great resource for tried and true recipes from home cooks.

Date Created
2015/07/14
Author
queenie